A totaliser system operates as follows: all the money bet on a particular race i s pooled together; the TAB then takes a commission (approximately 18%) from the betting pool; the remainder is then distributed among the successful bettors on the event.

In Victoria, these pools can be enormous in size, particularly during the Spring

Racing Carnival (which peaks in late October and early November).

The 2014 Melbourne Cup saw over $18 million wagered in the Vic TAB's 'W
